

The new restrictions on associations sending FAX communications to our members are overly intrusive and prevent us from properly communicating the value of our association services and programs to members who we serve. Requiring associations to obtain the written consent of our members is virtually impossible. Associations need to be exempted from the new rules with regard to member FAX communications.